(Zulfikar nods while fixing books from his bag.)
Fazil: Val... how many times have you been late? Aren't you afraid of getting suspended?
Zulfikar: Afraid? I'm more afraid when you start lecturing me.
Fazil: I just want you to be better, Val.
Zulfikar: Noisy. Now give me yesterday's geography homework before it's collected.
(Without refusing, Fazil takes out the homework book from his bag and gives it to Zulfikar.)

Mr Arif: Remember what Muhammad SAW said:
مَنْ رَأَى مِنكُمْ مُنْكَرًا فَلْيُغَيِّرْهُ بِيَدِهِ، فَإِنْ لَمْ يَسْتَطِعْ فَبِلِسَانِهِ، فَإِنْ لَمْ يَسْتَطِعْ فَبِقَلْبِهِ، وَذَلِكَ أَضْعَفُ الْإِيمَانِ
Note this always in your heart!

Fazil: Yes sir.
Mr Arif: Alright, you may go.
Fazil : Thank You sir
Narrator: The first period goes on as usual, until the first recess arrives. The time for Zulfikar to get his punishment.
Scene 2
Zulfikar: (Shouting, embarrassed) My friends! Don't come late to school!

Mr Arif: Say the words on the board loudly! If not, I will make you stand under the sun again during the second recess.
Zulfikar: (Shouting, embarrassed) My friends! Don't come late to school!
(Some students laugh. Fazil watches from far away, waits until it's finished, and then approaches him.)
Fazil: Zulfikar, here is some food for you. Let's eat together.
Zulfikar: Hah!
(Slaps Fazil's hand away until the food falls to the ground.)
Zulfikar: (Angry) I don't need your pity. Did you do this on purpose to mock me?
(Fazil is silent, picking up the food from the ground to throw it in the trash.)
Fazil: (Sad) I'm sorry, Val. I didn't mean it that way.
Zulfikar: Gosh, you just make me more embarrassed. Get out of my sight!!!!!!!!!!
Narrator: The school bell rings three times, signaling it is time to go home. Fazil sees Zulfikar walking out and immediately chases him.

Scene 3

Zulfikar: What else? It's enough that you disturbed me during recess.
Fazil: I didn't mean anything bad this morning. Seriously, I just wanted to ask you to eat together.
Zulfikar: (Harsh tone) Fazil, listen! You are not the only friend I have. You are just one of them. So don't act so nice when you actually want something, right? I know your family is penniless.
Fazil: (Shocked and hurt) Val? What is wrong with you?
Zulfikar: I should be the one asking, what is wrong with you?! Since this morning you lectured me about being late, and during recess you acted so nice giving me food. It's annoying, you know?!
Fazil: Okay, I'm sorry, Val.
Zulfikar: Just keep apologizing. Go away!
Narrator: Zulfikar walks faster ahead of Fazil, feeling angry because Fazil always follows him.
Days pass, Zulfikar wakes up because of his alarm.

(Zulfikar walks in and goes straight to the desk next to Fazil.)
Mr Arif: I will wait for you on the field during the first recess. Understood?
(Zulfikar nods while fixing books from his bag.)
Zulfikar: (Whispering quietly) Why is Fazil so quiet? Usually he talks a lot. Ah, just let him be, better than being noisy.
Narrator: The day passes as usual, but something is strange. Fazil does not speak a single word all day. Zulfikar, who is curious, tries to approach Fazil and asks.
Zulfikar: Fazil! Sigh, it's unusual for you to be so quiet today?
Fazil: (Cold expression) Sorry?
Zulfikar: Why?
Fazil: I'm sorry, but who are you?
(Hearing this, Zulfikar is shocked and stands completely speechless.)
Zulfikar: (Forcing a laugh) Hah, funny. Your humor is getting better.
Fazil: If there is nothing important, I will excuse myself to the reading garden.
(Fazil walks toward the reading garden, leaving Zulfikar alone in confusion.)
Zulfikar: What kind of dream did I have yesterday, for Fazil to suddenly change like this?
Narrator: Zulfikar does his punishment under the hot sun, but his mind is always thinking about Fazil.

Zulfikar: Fazil, what book are you reading?
Fazil: (Fazil turns and gives a strange look) I'm sorry, but you have been calling my name since yesterday even though we don't know each other. Please don't disturb me again.
Zulfikar: What do you mean? Pretending to lose your memory? Want to look down on me?
(Zulfikar gets angry and pulls Fazil's collar.)
Fazil: Don't act like we are close!
(Fazil pushes Zulfikar back until Zulfikar falls to the floor.)
Fazil: I don't know you. But you always follow me, and now? You want to look for trouble, hah?
(Zulfikar, sitting on the floor, can only look down in silence hearing his friend's answer.)
Zulfikar: (Voice breaking, crying) Fazil. I am really sorry for my behavior all this time. I... I don't have any other friends besides you.
(Fazil turns his back on Zulfikar and prepares to walk out.)
Fazil: You should have realized this a long time ago, Zulfikar.
(Fazil looks back a little while smiling.)
Scene 5
(An alarm rings loudly)
Fazil: HAH! A dream? Was it all just a dream?
(Looks at the clock showing 6 o'clock)

(Looks at the clock showing 6 o'clock)
Fazil: Zulfikar?
Zulfikar: (Suddenly scene cuts back/merges) Hah! I cannot be late this morning!
(He rushes to the bathroom, prepares his books, and goes straight to school.)
(Narrator): Zulfikar now goes to school earlier. Arriving at the class, he only finds Fazil reading a book at his seat. Zulfikar sits next to Fazil.
Zulfikar: Fazil, what book are you reading?
Fazil: (Shocked and happy) EH! ZULFIKAR?! Alhamdulillah (Thank God) you are not late again! I am reading a biology book.
(Hearing his friend's friendly voice again, Zulfikar is deeply moved and stares in disbelief.)
Zulfikar: So... it was really just a dream.
Fazil: What do you mean, Zulfikar?
Zulfikar: EH! It's nothing. Anyway, do you want to eat lunch together during recess? My mom made me fried rice today.
Fazil: Wow, that's awesome! Let's go!
Zulfikar: Great!
(When recess arrives, the two of them eat together while joking and laughing closely.)
Narrator: We only realize how precious someone is when we are faced with the fear of losing them. Time cannot be turned back, but the chance to change is always there for those who want to learn from their mistakes.

Chapter

02

Aladdin And The Magic Lamp

(One evening, in a bustling marketplace, Aladdin and Prince Ali, the main characters of the story, were about to introduce themselves. Aladdin was a poor young man who, despite his humble circumstances, always showed kindness and generosity by sharing what little he had with those in need. In contrast, Prince Ali, the wealthy son of Sultan Abdul, lived a life of luxury and abundance. However, unlike Aladdin, he was reluctant to share his wealth with others and showed little concern for the less fortunate.)

ACT I (At the Bazaar)

Aladdin: Hello, mateys! My name is Aladdin. I have spent my life searching for precious treasures around the world. Not for luxury, but to share my bounty with those in need.

(All the pedestrians and sellers come to Aladdin to receive money.)

Abu: Nguk-nguk...! (Abu enters, running toward Aladdin.)

Aladdin: And this is my buddy! His name is Abu. Please say hello to everyone, Abu!

Abu: Nguk-nguk... aa-aa!

Sultan Abdul: Oh my God! What a mess! Everybody, clear the way! Just sit down politely and be the first on your block to meet his eyes! Here comes my son, Prince Ali!

[Prince Ali enters with dancing and music.]

Prince Ali: I am Prince Ali! I am dripping in luxury and surrounded by royalty! Sharing? Don't be kidding!? I'm keeping my money for my own happiness!

Aladdin: Pardon me, my prince, but I think you are merely wealthy but I am truly rich. Because I have what you don't!

Prince Ali: How dare you are! What could you possibly have that I don't?

Aladdin: Ah! Let me show you.*(Grasps the lamp.)*Ta-da! The MAGIC LAMP!

Prince Ali: What?! It's nothing but a worthless lamp? I think my cap is more expensive!

Aladdin: Pardon me, my prince. Maybe it looks useless on the outside, but not on the inside. It has something even greater than anything you have!

Prince Ali: Even greater than mine? What do you mean?

Aladdin: Ah! I guarantee you've never seen anything like this before. Hang on!

(Aladdin rubs the lamp, and the Genie emerges amid a burst of smoke.)

Genie: Oh, great one who summons me, I stand by my oath: loyalty to three wishes, Your Majesty!

Aladdin: This is the Genie. He gives me whatever I want and supports me help other people. Now, give me tons of cash, Genie!

Genie: As your wish, my master!

(A box filled with cash is brought out from behind the stage.)

Prince Ali: Wow! (Excited) Now, what are you going to do with all that cash? Wouldn't it be better to upgrade your own lifestyle?

Aladdin: Ahh! You'll see in a second. Oh, mighty Genie, grant me a magic carpet to fly me away!

Genie: My pleasure, Your Majesty!

(The stage crew brings out a MAGIC CARPET as the stage lights dim)

Aladdin : Please Come with me my prince! Let me show you something.

[Aladdin singing "A whole new world": Aladdin and Ali fly up into the night sky, taking in the view of the village below to background music. Aladdin shares his fortune whenever he spots villagers in need.]

(At that moment, as they soared through the sky on the magic carpet, Aladdin attempted to open Prince Ali's eyes to the harsh reality faced by his people. He showed the prince the struggles and hardships his subjects endured, hoping to awaken his sense of compassion and responsibility. Once they had descended from the skies, Prince Ali was overwhelmed with remorse, regretting his selfishness and the way he had treated his people all along.)

ACT II (After Landing)

Aladdin: Look, my prince! What a magnificent view! Look at the people living by sharing, even though they don't have much money.

Prince Ali: So this is... how my people live?(Feeling regretful.)

Aladdin: What's the matter, my prince? Are you okay?

Prince Ali: No, I'm not. Because I am drowning in selfishness and greed. I have never been satisfied with what I have. I always want more and more, but I'm not happy. And I feel alone.

Aladdin: My prince, don't let your bad memories haunt you. Just leave it behind so keep moving forward and rewrite a new history.

Prince Ali: Thanks, Aladdin. You really opened my eyes. Sharing is caring.

Aladdin: Don't mention it, my prince.

(Sultan Abdul sees them and tries to stop Aladdin from influencing his son.)

Sultan Abdul: No! Aladdin and his magic lamp might threaten my authority. Come on, my guards! Arrest that man and lock him away!

(The guards catch Aladdin.)

Aladdin: Hey! What's going on? I haven't done anything wrong!

Sultan Abdul: Exactly! You haven't done anything wrong, Aladdin. But you might threat my authority with this! (Takes the magic lamp from Aladdin.) Take him to jail!

(Just then, Sultan Abdul caught sight of the two of them. However, rather than feeling relieved, he grew anxious and suspicious, fearing that the mysterious object in Aladdin's possession might threaten his authority and eventually cost him his throne. Driven by his desire to protect his power, Sultan Abdul ordered his guards to seize Aladdin and have him taken into custody.)

ACT III (In The Jail)

Sultan Abdul: Finally, I have it! Now I can invade all kingdoms in the world! Hahahaha!

Aladdin: No! Don't use the magic lamp to harm people!

Sultan Abdul: Hahaha! I don't care! I only want to expand my power and rule the world! Come out, Genie, and grant my wish!

(Sultan Abdul rubs the magic lamp.)

Aladdin: Hahaha, I am sorry my king! But you don't even know how to use it!

Sultan Abdul: (Annoyed) Silence! you summon the Genie for me!

Aladdin: No way! I will never summon him for an evil like you!

Sultan Abdul: Fine, if you won't. Perhaps I know someone who can summon the Genie for me.(He approaches Prince Ali.)

Aladdin: No, Prince Ali! No! Don't let your father use the Genie for evil purposes!

Sultan Abdul: Come on, son. Aren't you happy living in all this luxury? (Sultan Abdul hands the magic lamp to Prince Ali.) Come on, son. Summon the Genie for me and make our dreams come true!

Aladdin: No!

(Prince Ali recites the spell, and the Genie appears.)

Sultan Abdul: Hahaha! Finally! Oh, Genie, I wish to become the most powerful person in the world and rule over it!

(The Genie does not respond.)

Genie: Sorry, I can only grant wishes to the person who summons me.

Sultan Abdul: Very well, my son. Tell him your wish!

Prince Ali: (Takes a deep breath.) In the name of my kingdom, my throne and my Crown...I wish for all the evil intentions and greed in this kingdom to disappear!

Genie: With pleasure, my master! (The Genie attacks Sultan Abdul.)

Sultan Abdul: How dare you! You are my son! Argh! (Sultan Abdul dies.)

Prince Ali: Aladdin, my friend! (He frees Aladdin.)

Aladdin: Oh my God! my prince, Your courage has breathe me away! You fighted against evil, even it came from your father! Thank you and congratulation!

Prince Ali : You're welcome. But my father is gone, so who will rule the kingdom?

Soldier I: Pardon me, my lord, but if your father is no longer king, then you should be the king

Soldier II: Yes, exactly!.Your are not like your father. We believe that The kingdom will be better, and people will live in peace. (The soldier takes Sultan Abdul's crown and places it on Prince Ali's head.) Everyone, this is our new king, Sultan Ali!

Soldier I: Who is our king?

Everyone: Sultan Ali!

Soldier I: Who is our king?

Everyone: Sultan Ali!

Soldier I: Who is our king?

The Key To Success

NARRATOR

At a coffee shop that's always bustling with people, two lazy high school students are skipping school and have run away from home. There, they're playing mobile games while using the coffee shop's Wi-Fi. Suddenly, their friend Samuel shows up to remind them that exam time is approaching.

SCENE 1

Samuel : Guys! What are you two doing here? Shouldn't you be at school right now?

Ethan : Relax, Samuel! We're just taking a little break. School can wait!

Ben : Exactly! Besides, the Wi-Fi here is much better than at school.

Samuel : A little break? You've been skipping school for days! Don't you remember that our exams are coming soon?

Ethan : Exams? Oh, come on! Don't ruin my mood, Samuel. I'm about to win this match!

Ben : And I'm about to become a professional gamer! Maybe I'll even become famous on TikTok!

Samuel : Famous? With those gaming skills? You can barely win against a beginner!

Ben : Hey! At least I have a dream!

Ethan : Yeah! My dream is to become a famous influencer without doing any hard work.

Samuel : And how exactly do you plan to do that?

Ethan : Easy! I just need to go viral overnight!

Ben : And I want to become rich overnight! Imagine waking up tomorrow and finding millions in my bank account!

Samuel : You two are unbelievable! You want fame and money, but you don't even want to study!

Ethan : Studying is exhausting, bro. There must be an easier way to become successful.

Ben : Wait a minute! What if there's a shortcut? Like magic or something?

Samuel : Actually... I think I know someone who might be able to help us.

Ethan : What? Who?

Samuel : Have you ever heard of Arthur, the powerful shaman?

Ben : Arthur? No. Is he some kind of wizard?

Samuel : People say he has incredible powers. He can make anyone successful overnight!

Ethan : WHAT?! Are you serious? You mean I could become famous without studying?
Samuel : That's what people say. But I don't know if the stories are true.
Ben : Who cares if they're true or not? We have to find him!
Ethan : Absolutely! Imagine becoming famous, rich, and successful without spending another minute in class!
Samuel : Hold on! We don't even know where he lives!
Ben : Then we'll find him! Come on, guys! What are we waiting for?
Ethan : Let's go find that shaman!
Samuel : Fine! But don't blame me if this turns out to be a complete waste of time!
Ben : Stop talking and start walking!
ALL THREE : LET'S GO!!

NARRATOR

After leaving the coffee shop, the three friends began their journey to find the mysterious shaman, Arthur. Armed with nothing but a map and their unrealistic dreams, they ventured deep into the forest. However, the deeper they went, the more confusing the path became. Little did they know, their journey was about to take a dangerous and unexpected turn.

SCENE 2

Ben : "Are you sure this is the right way?"
Samuel : "According the map... yes"

Ethan : “You said that twenty minutes ago!”
Samuel : “Maybe... The map is complicated”
Ben : “You are holding it upside down! Stupid!”
Cannibal people : “Pulu pulu! Pulu pu pulu”
(stupid people feel scary)
Leader : “Who are you?”
Samuel : “We are travelers”
Leader : “Travelers?”
Stupid people : “Yes!”
Leader : “Then you are lost”
Ethan : “mmm.. Actually.. yes”
Leader : “Nobody passes this forest for free!! Hahahaha.. If you want to pass this forest, you must to give us a SACRIFICE! Hahaha...
Cannibal people : “PULUU!!.. Pulu. Pulu. Pulu.”(Sambil mengacungkan tombak)
Ben : “Wait wait wait!. Maybe we don’t have something to eat. But we have some water. Who drink that, he never will be thirsty!”(Sambil menaruh botol diantara Leader dan mereka kemudian segera menjauh)
Leader : “Is that true? If not, we’ll kill you all and eat you!!
Ben : “Go ahead and try it first...”
(While the cannibals gathered to try the drink, the fools quietly slipped away to save themselves, as the two confused cannibals behind them watched them go)
Leader : “Ahhh... this drink is so refreshing! But... I’m still thirsty. HEY! Where did they go?!!

(The cannibals search for the fools who had just fled)

Leader : “Where are they?!! Where are they?!! WHERE ARE THEY?!!!

NARRATOR

After narrowly escaping the cannibals, the three friends continued their journey through the forest. Tired, frightened, and completely lost, they finally arrived at a strange place believed to be Arthur’s home. Hoping to achieve success without any hard work, they gathered their courage and stepped forward to meet the powerful shaman. But would Arthur grant their wishes, or would they discover a lesson they had been trying so hard to avoid?

SCENE 3

Ethan : “Is this really the house of that powerful shaman?

Samuel : “Shhh... Don’t speak so loudly!

Ben : “Why’s that?

Samuel : “He can hear our conversation!

Arthur : “I ALREADY KNOW EVERYTHING!!”

(They froze in place upon hearing the voice. Then they tried to locate the shaman, following the source of the sound.)

Ben : “Did you guys hear that?”

Ethan : “Yeah, it feels like he’s really close to us. But... where is he?”

Samuel : “There he is! Over there!

(As he approached, Arthur said—)

Arthur : “I already know why you’re here.”

Ethan : (Whispering) “Why did we come here, anyway?...”

Samuel : “You idiot! We’ve come all this way, and you’ve forgotten why we’re here?”
Ben : “That’s only natural—he’s stupid, after all.”
Samuel : “So are you!”
Ben : “Why?”
Samuel : “Don’t call people stupid if you’re stupid yourself!”
Ben : “Aren’t you stupid, then?”
Samuel : “I am stupid, but I’m not like you!”
Ben : “How am I not like you? You just called him stupid too!”
Samuel : “When?!”
Arthur : “SHUT UP! Do you guys even know where you’re talking right now, huh? A bus stop?! An airport?!
(They fall silent)
Arthur : “You guys really are a bunch of idiots!! Not only are you stupid, but you’re also so inconsiderate!... Never mind, come here!...”
(Then Arthur hands them a bottle with a piece of paper inside)
Ethan : “Where’s the key?”
Samuel : “There’s just a piece of paper inside—there’s no key in this bottle.”
(sound of crickets)
Arthur : “Read what’s written on the paper first.”
(They took the paper out of the bottle and were surprised to see the word: STUDY)
The fools : “Hah!!”

Ben : “Study?!!” (Exchanging glances with the others)
Samuel : “We’ve come all this way into the forest...”
Ethan : “We were also almost eaten by cannibals...”
Ben : “And then... we came here... just to get an answer—”
Ethan : “That we already know for sure?!!”
Arthur : “There’s no easy path to success! Knowledge alone isn’t enough.”

NARRATOR

In the end, the three friends learned an important lesson from Arthur. Success cannot be achieved through magic or shortcuts, but through hard work, dedication, and the willingness to learn. They had spent so much time searching for an easy way to become successful that they forgot the most important thing: success begins with their own efforts. This story reminds us that dreams are worth pursuing, but dreams without action will remain dreams. So, never be afraid of hard work, never stop learning, and never expect success to come overnight. NARRATOR: "In the land of England, a Muslim boy was born who would one day become a famous Islamic singer. His name is Harris, a young man blessed with a golden voice. However, despite his talent, his life was not always easy or peaceful. He became lost in his search for identity.
Now, let us witness Harris's journey in the performance that follows."

Setting: On stage.

Harris enters the stage.

HARRIS: "Assalamu'alaikum! Yeah, Assalamu'alaikum! Yeah, Assalamu'alaikum! Yeah! Hello, everyone! My name is Harris. I am a Muslim young man born in Chelsea, England. My father is from Ireland, and my mother is from England.
You've heard my golden voice, right? That is my talent.
Thank you, everyone!"

An NPC gives Harris some money and asks for his autograph and a selfie.

SCENE 2 "THE SEARCH FOR IDENTITY"

Harris enters.

HARRIS: "It feels so good to live a life like this. I have plenty of money, lots of fans, and everything I could ever want."

An angel enters and approaches Harris.

ANGEL: "It seems that you are enjoying a wonderful life. You have everything you could ask for. But remember, Harris, do not become heedless or ungrateful for Allah's blessings. Everything can change."

HARRIS: "Don't worry. I'm always on the right path."

A jinn enters.

JINN: "Hahahahaha! Are you satisfied with your life like this, Harris? What a pity! You could have an even richer life, become even more famous, and have even more fans! Hahahahaha!"

HARRIS: "Really? How?"

ANGEL: "Don't listen to him, Harris, or you will lose your way."

JINN: "Be quiet, you annoying pest! Come with me, Harris. I will show you a life that is far better than this."

ANGEL: "Don't follow him!"

The Jinn pushes the angel until the angel falls.

JINN: "Ahh! Just be quiet!"

The Jinn pulls Harris off the stage.

The angel stands up and says:

ANGEL: "May Allah bless him."

SCENE 3 "GOING ASTRAY"

NARRATOR: "Harris then embraced a new lifestyle and new activities, believing that they would bring him happiness and success."

Harris enters with wearing a stylish outfit, accessories, a necklace, and so on.

Harris walks around the stage, showing off his new lifestyle. He takes selfies, shows off his wealth, and drinks.

HARRIS: "Is this what I have to do to surpass everyone? Hahahaha!"

NPC 1 walks by. Harris greets him.

HARRIS: "Hey, my friend! Would you like to take a photo with me?"

NPC 1 waves his hand indifferently and walks away.

NPC 2 walks by.

NPC 2: "What's wrong with you, Harris?"

Harris looks confused.

HARRIS: "I'm perfectly fine. Why do you ask?"

NPC 2: "May Allah guide you to the right path."

Harris becomes confused. Several NPCs enter the stage.

Harris greets them, but no one pays attention to him. The NPCs push Harris until he falls to the ground.

Harris feels sad and angry.

HARRIS: "Ahhh! What is wrong with everyone? What is wrong with me that makes everyone hate me?"

Harris sits on the floor, mourning and reflecting on the problems that have happened to him.

SCENE 4 “RETURNING TO THE RIGHT PATH”

The music and song “O Allah” begin.

Part 1 — The Angel Begins to Sing

The angel enters and begins singing.

At the same time, several NPCs portray Harris’s life while he is lost.

Part 2 — Harris Joins the Singing

Harris realizes his mistakes and begins to return to the right path.

The NPCs now portray Harris’s life after he has found his way back.

- NPC: Wearing a robe, walking around the stage, then meeting a poor person by the roadside and giving them money as charity.
- NPC: Enters while reading the Qur’an.
- NPC: Enters, walks around the stage, then approaches a Kaaba set and performs prayer.
- JINN: Tries to leave the stage to tempt Harris again, but two angel NPCs stop him.

The scene continues until the song ends.

When I was young
I was a fool
I was blind didn't know any better
I was afraid I made too many mistakes
And You'd only look at me as a sinner
No matter how much I would try
All the walls I put up always shattered
Until Your mercy conquered me

O Allah
You know all of my
My insecurities
You keep them hidden far away
O Allah
You hide all of my
Sins and impurities

You call me back when I go astray
Whatever I did
Whatever I said that's wrong
It was only because I was fed up
I thought I could do it all
That I was strong
But it turned out I wasn't so clever

No matter how much I would try
All the walls I put up always shattered
Until Your mercy conquered me

O Allah
You know all of my
My insecurities
You keep them hidden far away
O Allah
You hide all of my
Sins and impurities
You call me back when I go astray

Everytime I reflect on Your blessings
Couldn't thank You enough if I tried
If I praised You like the angels
Until the end of time
It's not enough to deserve
All of Your love

O Allah
You know all of my
My insecurities
You keep them hidden far away
O Allah
You hide all of my
Sins and impurities
You call me back when I go astray

O Allah
You know all of my
My insecurities
You keep them hidden far away
O Allah
You hide all of my
Sins and impurities
You call me back when I go astray
O Allah

5. MORAL MESSAGE

NARRATOR:

"Always remember Allah, and Allah will remember you. Allah will increase your blessings and sustenance. Never deny or be ungrateful for His blessings.

It is understandable for young people to make mistakes while searching for their identity. However, as long as they realize their mistakes and make an effort to correct them, that is what matters most."

THE END

“It seems that you are enjoying a wonderful life. You have everything you could ask for. But remember, Harris, do not become heedless or ungrateful for Allah’s blessings. Everything can change.”

The Dragon Warrior

SCENE 1 — DOJO

(A young boy is practicing kung fu. Several people can be seen looking down on him. He attempts several moves, but fails and falls.)

Sensei: You look troubled. What weighs so heavily on your heart, my student?

Boy: Why is it so hard for me to train? I want to become a Dragon Warrior just like you, Sensei. But every time I try, I fail.

Sensei: You think I became the man I am overnight? I failed too. More times than I care to remember. I even lost almost everything I had.

Boy: Really, Sensei?

Sensei: Sit down. Listen to my story. Perhaps then you'll understand why a warrior must never stop simply because of one failure.

(The lights change. Flashback begins.)

SCENE 2 — CADIA RIVERLAND

Sensei:
Long ago, I was nothing more than a boy named Aiwey. I lived in Cadia Riverland, a valley where my father built a temple and dojo known as Dengdao. He also served as the Dragon Warrior, protecting the Liyam Dynasty.
(Young Aiwey is training.)
Aiwey: Father! Look! I can do the Wind Punch now!
(Aiwey performs the move and nearly falls.)
Father: Not perfect yet, but you're starting to get the hang of it.
Aiwey: I'll keep training until I can become a Dragon Warrior just like you, Father!
Father: Keep training, Aiwey. But don't chase strength alone. A Dragon Warrior must know when to use his strength—and who he uses it for.
(Father smiles.)
Sensei: Back then, I didn't understand what my father meant. To me, he was the strongest warrior I had ever known.
Until that night.

SCENE 3 — THE ATTACK ON DENGDAO DOJO

(Night. Aiwey is still with his father. Suddenly, soldiers of the Liyam Dynasty arrive.)
Guard Commander: By order of the Liyam Dynasty! Seize the Dragon Warrior!
(The soldiers attack.)
Father: Aiwey, stay behind me!
(Father fights the soldiers while protecting Aiwey.)
Guard Commander: You are accused of betraying the Liyam Dynasty! Surrender now!
Father: After years of protecting this kingdom, you come here with accusations and not a shred of evidence. If you've chosen violence, I won't surrender my honor without a fight.

(The battle continues.)
(A guard attacks Aiwey from behind.)
Aiwey: FATHER!
(Father turns and blocks the attack just before it reaches Aiwey. Father is wounded.)
Aiwey: Father!
(Father gives Aiwey the dragon pendant.)
Father: Aiwey, take this pendant and go to Mount Longshen. Find the master there. And whatever happens tonight, don't let it turn your heart bitter with hatred.
Aiwey: But I don't want to leave you, Father!
Father: You're not leaving me. You're carrying on my legacy. Now go, before they find you.
(Aiwey cries and runs.)
Aiwey: FATHER!
(Father turns to face the soldiers.)
Father: As long as I still stand, you will not lay a hand on my son.
(Father resumes fighting.)
Sensei: That night, I left my home. And I left my father behind. With nothing but a dragon pendant in my hand, I journeyed toward Mount Longshen, unaware that the road ahead would change my life forever.

SCENE 4 — MOUNT LONGSHEN

(Young Aiwey walks through the forest, exhausted.)
Aiwey: I've been walking for days... but where is the temple?
(Faiyi appears.)
Faiyi: Are you looking for Master Longshen's temple?
Aiwey: Yes, Who are you?
Faiyi: My name is Faiyi. I'm one of Master Longshen's students. Hey...That pendant... Are you the Dragon Warrior's son?

Aiwey: I'm Aiwey, You know my father? My father sent me here to train.
Faiyi: I've heard stories about him. Come on. If you're looking for the temple, you're going the wrong way. Come with me. I know the way. Let's meet the Master.
(Faiyi and Aiwey walk toward the temple.)

SCENE 5 — LONGSHEN TEMPLE

Sensei:
Faiyi led me to a temple hidden deep within the mist of Mount Longshen.
That was where I met Master Longshen, a legendary warrior who would later become my teacher.
(Aiwey and Faiyi face the Master.)
Faiyi: Master, I found someone on the mountain. His name is Aiwey, and he has come here to train.
Master: Why do you wish to train?
Aiwey: I want to become strong and learn the truth about my father. I don't want to spend the rest of my life as someone who can only stand by and watch the people I love be taken from me.
Master: Strength will not heal the wounds in your heart. If you wish to train here, you must first learn to control yourself before you can control your opponent.
Aiwey: Then teach me.
Master: Very well. From this day forward, you will train together.

SCENE 6 — TEN YEARS OF TRAINING

Sensei:
From that day on, Faiyi and I trained together. We studied kung fu, weapons, physical endurance, and self-control.
Day after day.

Season after season.
Ten years passed.
(Training montage.)
(Aiwey and Faiyi practice kung fu.)
(Aiwey and Faiyi are now adults.)
Faiyi: Ten years have passed. Do you still want to go back?
Aiwey: I never forgot that night. Now I want to know the truth.
Master: You are both strong enough to leave the mountain. But don't let your past define who you are.
Aiwey: I understand, Master.
Faiyi: Then we'll leave together.
(Aiwey nods.)

SCENE 7 — THE LIYAM DYNASTY

Sensei:
Ten years after that night, I returned to the kingdom with Faiyi.
I had once left as a boy who couldn't protect anyone.
Now I returned as a warrior.
(Aiwey and Faiyi arrive at the kingdom's gate.)
(Brief fight.)
Faiyi: Aiwey, I'll hold them off. You go inside!
Aiwey: Alright. I'll leave the rest to you.
(Aiwey enters.)

SCENE 8 — THE KING'S PALACE

Sensei:
After making our way through the kingdom's defenses, we finally stood before the King.

The man who, for ten years, had been at the center of all my hatred.
(The King sits upon his throne.)
King: Well, well, well... So you're the ones causing all that ruckus outside. Who are you, and what do you want here, you pathetic little brats?
Aiwey: Spare me the yapping, Your Majesty. We came here for answers. Why did you kill my father that night, after everything he had done to protect this kingdom for so many years?
King: Ah... So you're the traitor's son.
(The King smiles and laughs villainously.)
Aiwey: Don't you dare call my father a traitor. I came here to uncover the truth.
King: The truth? Your father was too respected by the people. And that threatened my position.
Aiwey: So you sacrificed the man who protected this kingdom just to hold on to your power?
King: In this kingdom, I am the King. I hold the power. And I alone deserve to be respected.
(The King rises from his throne and laughs.)
Aiwey: Then today, you will answer for everything you've done.
(The battle begins.)

SCENE 9 — FAIYI'S DEATH

Sensei: I fought with every ounce of strength I had gained over ten years.
But the King's power was far beyond anything I had imagined.
(Aiwey falls.)
King: Ten years ago, you ran away and left your father to die. And now you come back thinking you can defeat me?
(The King laughs.)

(Faiyi arrives after defeating the soldiers at the gate.)
Faiyi: Don't touch him!
(Faiyi attacks the King.)
King: Your friend is just as weak as you are.
(The King catches Faiyi's attack and grabs him by the throat.)
King: Now I'll show you what true power looks like.
Aiwey: No! Faiyi!
(The King lifts Faiyi and slams him to the ground in front of Aiwey.)
Aiwey: FAIYI!
(Faiyi lies dying. He looks toward Aiwey, reaches out his hand, and dies.)
(Aiwey's eyes widen. Rage and grief consume him. Slowly, he closes his eyes.)

SCENE 10 — THE SUBCONSCIOUS

Sensei: For the second time in my life, someone who meant everything to me was taken away before my eyes. I lost hope. In the darkness, everything around me seemed to stand still. Then, someone approached me. It was my father.
(Mist fills the stage. Father appears.)
Aiwey: Father...
Father: You've come a long way, Aiwey.
Aiwey: I failed. I couldn't protect Faiyi.
Father: You lost, son. But defeat is not the end as long as you can still stand. I sent you away so you could find your strength—not so you could spend your life consumed by revenge.
Aiwey: Then what am I supposed to do?
Father: Stand up. Use your strength to protect those who still need you.
Remember, Yesterday is history, tomorrow is a mystery, but today is a gift. That is why it is called the present.
(Aiwey grips the dragon pendant.)

Aiwey: I understand now, Father.
Father: Then rise, Dragon Warrior.
(Light surrounds Aiwey.)

SCENE 11 — THE FINAL BATTLE

Sensei: I opened my eyes again. But this time, I did not stand as a boy consumed by hatred. I stood as the Dragon Warrior.
(Aiwey faces the King once again.)
King: You can still get back up, boy?
Aiwey: I didn't come back for revenge.
King: Then what did you come back for?
Aiwey: To protect what is still left.
(The final battle begins.)
King: Where did you get this power?!
Aiwey: From a will you could never break!
(Aiwey unleashes his final technique and defeats the King.)
(The soldiers lower their weapons and cheer for Aiwey as the Dragon Warrior.)

SCENE 12 — BACK TO THE DOJO

Sensei: That day, the King fell, and the truth was finally revealed. I lost my father. I lost Faiyi. But through all those losses, I finally understood what it truly meant to be a Dragon Warrior.
(The flashback ends. We return to the dojo.)
Boy: So you didn't become a Dragon Warrior because you were the strongest?
Sensei: No. I became a Dragon Warrior when I realized that strength isn't meant to avenge what we've lost. It's meant to protect what we still have.
(The boy stands.)
Boy: Then I'll try again.

Sensei: Get back on your feet. Don't be afraid to fail.
(The boy takes his stance and begins training again.)
Boy: Yes, Sensei!
(Sensei smiles.)

07 Chapter

Magic Sandal of Abu Nawas

Narator: The sun had just risen, and Abu Nawas was walking around his village to get some fresh air. However, he saw a group of villagers committing acts of idolatry.

Worshipper: “O tree, grant us wealth, grant us abundant riches.”

Abu nawas: “Astaghfirullah. They claim to believe in Allah, yet they still commit acts of shirk like that. Astaghfirullah.

(Pauses for a moment)

I will make them realize that Allah SWT is the One to whom all requests should be made, and that making those wishes come true requires effort and hard work.”

Narator: A few days later, Abu Nawas came up with an idea. He then went to the market and bought a large number of sandals to sell there.

Abu Nawas: "Magic sandals! Magic sandals! Come and get your magic sandals! Who wants to buy magic sandals? Magic sandals!"

Narrator: He continued shouting to attract customers.

Customer 1: "What do you mean by 'magic sandals'?"

Abu Nawas: "Just buy them, sir."

Customer 1: "No, explain first. What are they?"

Abu Nawas: "These sandals can make someone who has nothing become wealthy, sir."

Customer 1: "Really? You're not lying, are you?"

Abu Nawas: "That's right, sir."

Customer 1: "Alright, i'll buy one."

Customer 2: "What kind of sandals are those?"

Customer 1: "These are magic sandals that can make people rich."

Customer 2: "Really?"

Customer 1: "Yes.

Customer 2 Hey, I bought these!"

Narrator: Not long after that, many people started buying Abu Nawas's goods, until everything was sold out.

(One day, one of the buyers experienced an unusual incident.)

Buyer 1: Is it really true that this sandal is magical?

(Sound of a sheep in pain)

Where is that sound coming from? Oh no! My sheep got into someone's vineyard. How did it get there? I have to get it out!

(Trying to get the sheep)

(Caught in the act)

Vineyard Guard: Hey, thief! Come here!

Buyer 1: I'm not a thief! I'm just trying to get my sheep.

Vineyard Guard: You're lying!

(The guard catches the buyer.)

Buyer 1: Please let me go! I'm not a thief!

Narator: After that, he was interrogated by the vineyard owner and it turned out he didn't stolen anything, so he was allowed to go home and ended up cursing Abu Nawas' sandals..

Buyer 1: What kind of magical sandals are these? Instead of bringing miracles, it just only bring bad luck!

Narrator From one person to another, people began talking about Abu Nawas's magical sandals. They complained that the sandals could not make them rich or wealthy, so they went to Abu Nawas to ask compensation.

(They meet Abu Nawas.)

Buyer 1: Hey, Abu Nawas!

Abu Nawas: Why have all of you come here?

Buyer 2: It's true my business didn't get any miracles, it didn't sell. What a liar.

Abu Nawas: Who said these sandals could make you rich?

Buyer 1: You're the one who said it!

Abu Nawas: I'm not saying these sandals can make you rich, I'm just saying these sandals can turn someone who originally didn't have anything into someone who has something. I mean, having sandals here. And I'm not lying about the Magic Sandals; if you think I'm lying, then it's just that you're not paying attention, look (showing the brand) hahahahaha! Besides, if you want to be rich, pray and worship Allah SWT, because only Allah is the one to ask for everything. Then, make an effort and work hard, because indeed Allah will reward what His servant strives for.

Narator: The people lowered their heads in shame after hearing Abu Nawas's words. One by one, they left Abu Nawas's house.

So, the lesson we can take from today's drama is:

Be grateful for what you have,

Work hard for what you want,

and be patient with whatever happens to you.)

AN NAJM 39 وَاَنْ لَّيْسَ لِلْاِنْسَانِ اِلَّا مَا سَعٰى

(Indeed, a person will receive nothing except what they strive for.)

IBRAHIM 7 وَإِذْ تَأَذَّنَ رَبُّكُمْ لَئِن شَكَرْتُمْ لَأَزِيدَنَّكُمْ وَلَئِن كَفَرْتُمْ إِنَّ عَذَابِي لَشَدِيدٌ

("Indeed, if you are grateful, I will surely increase My blessings upon you; but if you are ungrateful, surely My punishment is severe.")

Zayd : I remember it clearly.
Faris : I remember it clearly too. And I never borrowed your money.
Zayd : We met near the Sahara.
Faris : Never happened.
Zayd : You promised you would pay it back.
Faris : Stop bringing up something that never existed!
(People around begin looking at them.)
Zayd : Something that never existed?

(In the courtroom. The Judge sits in the center. The Clerk stands beside him. Zayd and Faris sit opposite each other.)

Judge : Zayd, you claim Faris owes you money?
Zayd : Yes, Your Honor.
Judge : And Faris, you deny it?
Faris : Yes, Your Honor. Because it never happened.
Zayd : Liar! You owe me—
Judge : Silence.
(Zayd falls silent.)
Judge : You may speak only when I give you permission.
(The Judge looks at both of them.)
Judge : All right. Zayd, do you have any evidence?
Zayd : There is no written agreement, Your Honor.
Judge : A witness?
Zayd : None.
Judge : Then what do you have?
Zayd : My memory.
Faris : A false memory that is now causing trouble for me.
Zayd : Who says it's false?
Faris : Because it never happened!
Zayd : It did!
Judge : Enough.
(The Judge knocks on the table once. The Judge looks at Zayd.)
Zayd, you speak first. Without interruption.
Zayd : Faris borrowed one hundred dinars near the Sahara. He needed it for his family and promised to pay me back.
Faris : That never happened!
Judge : Faris.
(Faris falls silent. And Zayd nods.)

Zayd : I gave him the money because I trusted him.
Judge : You're certain that was the place?
Zayd : Yes, Your Honor.
Judge : All right.
(The Judge thinks for a moment.)
Go to that place.
Zayd : What for, Your Honor?
Judge : Bring me a handful of sand from that place..
Zayd : Sand?
Judge : Yes. And don't take too long.
Zayd : Yes, Your Honor.
(Zayd exits the stage.)

(The Judge is now alone with Faris. The atmosphere becomes calmer.)
Judge : Faris.
Faris : Yes, Your Honor?
Judge : You're calm.
Faris : Of course. Because I am on the right side.
Judge : Good.
(The Judge looks toward the door.)
What do you think... will Zayd be gone for long?
Faris : Definitely.
Judge : Why?
Faris : Because the place where he's getting the sand is far away.
(Freeze)
Truth : Intresting...
Memory : He knew the place
Truth : Even though he denied it existed.
Judge : Hmm... Far from where?

Faris : From the place—
(Faris stops. He realizes his mistake.)
Judge : From which place?
Faris : I-I mean...
Judge : You said that place was far away.
(Faris begins to grow uneasy.)
Yet you said the incident never happened.
(Silence.)
Faris : I-I...
Judge : If it never happened, how do you know Zayd is going to a place that is far away?
(Faris cannot answer.)
Judge : I think we've heard enough.

(A few moments later. Zayd returns carrying a handful of sand.)
(Zayd shows the sand.)
Zayd : sand from that place.
Judge : Put it there.
(Zayd puts the sand down.)
Zayd : Can this sand prove that I am telling the truth?
Judge : No.
Zayd : Then why did Your Honor ask me to get it?
(The Judge looks at Faris.)
Judge : Because the sand does not need to speak.
(Zayd looks at Faris.)
Judge : Faris has already spoken for himself.
(Silence.)

(Zayd slowly looks at faris)
Zayd : You remember, don't you?
(Faris tries to speak)
Faris : I-I'm sorry...
Zayd : Why did you lie?
Faris : Because...
(Faris holds back his tears/emotions.)
I was ashamed to admit that I still needed your help.
Zayd : You should have just told me.
(Zayd looks at Faris with disappointment.)
Judge : Based on your admission, Faris is ordered to repay the one hundred dinars.
TOK! TOK! TOK!
(The Judge strikes the gavel three times.)
Memory : The sahara said nothing.
Truth : Yet the truth was heard.

Scene 4 – What Was Really Lost

(Outside the courtroom. The trial is over.)
(Zayd exits alone. He walks a few steps, then stops.)
(Faris comes out after him.)
Faris : Zayd!
(Zayd stops, but does not turn around.)
(Pause.)
Forgive me.
(Zayd slowly turns around and looking at faris.)
(Faris falls silent.)
Faris : Can you forgive me?
(Zayd looks at Faris for a long moment.)
Zayd : I... don't know.

Faris : Aren't we friends?
(Long pause.)
Zayd : We used to be.
(Faris lowers his head.)
Zayd : Faris.
(Faris stops.)
You stood right in front of me... and called me a liar.
(Faris is unable to answer.)
Faris : I was afraid. I was ashamed.
(Faris holds back his emotions.)
(Zayd looks at him. Zayd turns around and begins to leave.)

Coming Home

Scene 1: In Front of the School

Theme: Filial disobedience, success, a parent's loneliness, regret, and the meaning of coming home.

(Lights up.)

A father walks his child to school.

Child: "Dad, when I grow up I want to be successful — have a big house, lots of money, and a fancy car."

Father: "Yes, son. I'll always support whatever your dream is."

Child: "Oh, and Dad! Can you pick me up later? I'd really love it if you picked me up and we drove around the city after school."

Father: "Hmm... maybe another time. I can't today. Go home with your uncle, okay?"

Child: "Hmm, okay then."

Father: "Alright, go on into class now! You're almost late."

Child: "Hmm... okay. Goodbye, Dad!"
Father: "Goodbye."
(They part ways, each speaking to themselves.)
Child: (Why does Dad never want to pick me up?)
Father: (Forgive me, son. I wish so much I could always be there for you, but I'm so busy. Maybe one day you'll understand.)

Scene 2: In Front of the House
(The child has grown up and wants to leave town to look for work.)
(He feels he has been ignored by his father his whole life, and decides to leave for another city.)
Father: "Son, where are you going?"
Child: "Forget it, Dad. I want to leave! There's no point living with you — you never even cared about me. I want to find happiness in my own life."
Father: "Alright, son, if that's what you want. I won't force you to stay home. Go chase your success. If you ever need me, I'll always be here for you."
Child: "Ha, don't pretend you care!"
(The child leaves, abandoning his father.)
(The father cries.)
Father: (One day you'll understand, son. I'll be proud when you succeed.)

Scene 3: Work
Montage.
No need for much dialogue.
Year One
The child works hard. He applies to many companies and is rejected. He falls. He rises. Finally, he is hired by a company. He works.

Year Two
The child begins to succeed. He lands a good job. But every time he's working and "Dad" appears on his phone screen, he ignores it.
Child: "Not now, Dad, I'm busy."
Twice, three times he calls — no answer.
Finally, on the fourth call, he picks up.
Child: "What is it, Dad?! Don't you know I'm busy?! Stop calling me!"
Father
"I just wanted to know how you're doing—"
The call cuts off. His father keeps praying for his son's success.
Father: "Dear God, please grant my son ease in earning his living. Give him the very best, dear God."
Child: "This dad of mine, acting like he doesn't know I'm busy."
His phone buzzes with a message.
On the screen, his father's name appears with a message:
(Come home, son! Dad misses you.)
Child: "Ah, later."
Year Three
(Lights shift to the father.)
The father grows older. He sits in a chair. Writing something. He stops. Tears up the paper. Writes again. Then keeps everything in a box.
(Lights shift to the child.)
His child, at work. He suffers a failure. He is cheated and takes a loss.
Employee: "Sorry, boss, our company has been cheated by the other party — we've suffered a huge loss."
Child: "AAAAHHHHH, ANOTHER LOSS??"
Employee: "Yes, sir, and the company director has asked to see you."
Child: "Alright, you may go."

Employee: "Yes, sir."
The employee leaves. The child, furious, throws everything off his desk.
In the Director's Office
Child: "Excuse me!!"
Director: "Come in!! Yes, my apologies in advance — you should know that the project under your charge has suffered a major loss, which has severely affected the company. So, as a company, we have taken this as a lesson and are forced to let you go. After this, please pack your things and leave the office. FIRED!!!
Child: "Understood, sir. Thank you."
The child walks out, gathers his things from the office, and storms off the stage, throwing all his belongings in anger. He looks at his phone screen. No word from his father.
Child: "Where's Dad? Forgive me, Dad, I've let you down. I've failed. I'm sorry. I need you, Dad."
He cries and walks off the stage.

Scene 4: Coming Home
The child arrives in front of the house. Empty. No one is there. Then he sees a box on the table. He opens it. Inside are many things. Photos from his childhood.
Medals. A school acceptance letter. And many letters.
The child reads the first letter.
"Today Dad got a second job."
Second letter:
"Today Dad sold his motorbike."
The child falls silent.
Third letter:
"You said you wanted to study in the city. Dad will find a way."

The child starts to cry.
The father comes in.
Father: "You're home."
The child only nods.
Father: "Have you eaten?"
The child nearly cries hearing that simple question.
Child: "Not yet."
The father heads straight to the kitchen.
Father: "Sit down."
As if three years had never happened.
Then his father notices him holding the letters.
Father: "You read them?"
Child: "Why did you never tell me?"
Father
"It doesn't matter."
Child: "This doesn't matter?"
The father stays silent.
Child: "You sold your motorbike for me. You worked more, for me. Why?
The father answers simply:
"Because you're my son."
The song "Coming Home" begins to play.
Child: "Dad..."
The father turns.
Child: "I failed."
Father: "No."
Child: "I didn't become who I wanted to be."
Father: "That's alright."
Child: "I lost three years."
The father shakes his head.

"What matters is you didn't lose yourself."
The child finally embraces his father. The father holds him. No dialogue for a few seconds. Then the father says:
"That's it. You're home now."

THE END

Child : "Dad, when I grow up I want to be successful — have a big house, lots of money, and a fancy car."

ACTOR 2
I'm sorry, sir, but we're doing everything we can.
DIRECTOR
Everything you can?! I'm paying you a fortune!
ACTOR 2
Come on, sir! Where's your support?! All you've done this whole time is yell at us!
DIRECTOR
I'm doing all this for our victory!

NARRATOR
After the argument, the director buys himself a drink and heads to the park to clear his head. But then, a stranger approaches him.
STRANGER
Hey... You dropped your hat...
Mind if I sit next to you? Hey bro, looks like you had a big problem. Hey, look over there! Is there Bahlil?! Haha... Just kidding.
DIRECTOR
Ahh! Who even are you?! I don't know you, Don't bother me! Go away!

Okay, okay! I give up! What do you want?!

STRANGER
You've got something on your mind, haven't you? Come on, tell me about it.
DIRECTOR
So, here's the thing.
STRANGER
Ohhh... I see. I get how you feel. It's exhausting and painful, isn't it?
DIRECTOR
You actually understand how I feel? Thank you. I really feel appreciated.
STRANGER
Hey, look at me and listen. Let me tell you something. Honestly... you're the one who's in the wrong.
DIRECTOR
Why am I the one who's wrong?
STRANGER
You can't be so ambitious and selfish. Your fellow actors need some time to breathe too. Don't keep thinking only about yourself. Try thinking about and appreciating other people. Treat them right, and they'll appreciate you in return.
DIRECTOR
Ohhh... I get it now. Thank you for the advice. That really touched me. I'm finally starting to see where I went wrong.
STRANGER
Oh, right! You're hungry, aren't you? I'm gonna go get some food first, okay...?
NARATOR
When he was going out for buying some food, and then...

But you're hungry. I'll go get some food first.
DIRECTOR
I said you don't have to!
STRANGER
Why?
DIRECTOR
Because you'll die!
STRANGER
(Smiles.) And what if I die? Listen, ambition can't overcome fate; no matter how ambitious you are, it's impossible to change it. Don't force your will too much—pay attention to the people around you. All of that will be in vain and will only wear you out...
(Gets hit.)
DIRECTOR
WHY?! Why do I keep failing to save him?! HAAAAHHH! CUT! CUT! CUT!
(GLITCH)

11 Chapter

The Kyai

Scene 1: The PKI's Plan

The story begins with PKI members planning to kidnap the Kyai.

John: So, how will we kidnap the Kyai?

Anton: Here is the plan. We will go to his place and take him away.

Ucup: Isn't that too dangerous?

Anton: Don't be afraid. We have guns. We can just shoot anyone who tries to stop us.

PKI: Hahahahaha!

The lights move to two narrators sitting in the corner of the stage.

Narrator 1: Hey, my friend. Do you know who the Kyai is?

Narrator 2: Yes, I do. He is the leader of an Islamic boarding school.

Narrator 1: But do you know what he has done for us?

Narrator 2: No. Can you tell me?

Narrator 1: All right. Listen carefully. This is the story of "The Kyai."

Scene 2: The Boarding School

The scene changes to the Kyai watching the student registration process.

Staff: Where is the rice, sir?

Budi: Here it is. This is the rice for my child's school registration.

Staff: Okay, great. Next!

Yono: Excuse me, sir. I don't have anything.

Staff: What? If you don't have money to send your child to school, then don't send him here! You are making things difficult!

Kyai: Hey! Why are you asking for registration fees? I opened this school for free!

Staff: Yes, yes. I'm sorry, Kyai. I was wrong.

Kyai: Don't do it again.

Staff: Yes, Kyai.

The staff writes the student's information.

On the other side of the stage, the students are studying. The Kyai continues walking around and watching them.

Kyai: How beautiful this school is. The students are trying to improve their knowledge to make our country better.

A student suddenly comes and asks the Kyai a question.

Ahmad: Kyai, what does this mean?

Kyai: This part teaches us that we must speak the truth, not change the truth to fit what we want.

Ahmad: Oh, so we must be brave, right, Kyai?

Kyai: That's right.

The Kyai gently touches Ahmad's head.

Scene 3: The Letter of Struggle

Narrator 1: In the peaceful boarding school, the Kyai saw a danger coming from the Indonesian Communist Party or PKI club

Narrator 2: So, what did the Kyai do next?

Narrator 1: He asked his students to write and spread a letter. It called people to fight for the truth and stand against the PKI.

The scene changes to the Kyai's house. He is writing a letter.

Kyai: Hey, Ahmad! Give this letter to the students. Tell them to share it with as many people as possible. We must help people understand that lies must be fought.

Ahmad: Yes, Kyai!

The scene changes. The narrators speak while the students are seen giving letters to the people.

Narrator 1: Finally, the letter spread to many people. They began to understand that the PKI was a danger to them and must be resisted.

Scene 4: The Kidnapping

The screen shows a map animation of a PKI car moving toward the boarding school. After the animation, the scene changes to the students studying together. Suddenly, the PKI arrives.

Anton: Hey, you students! Where is your Kyai? The man who spread this false letter!

Ahmad: Who are you? Why are you looking for our Kyai?

Anton: You don't need to know who we are. Just give us your Kyai now!

Ibnu: We will never give you our Kyai. If you want him, take me instead!

Anton: Give us your Kyai, or we will take him by force!

Ahmad: Try it if you can!

Anton: Okay!

Anton moves forward alone. The students stop him. Suddenly, a gunshot is heard. The students become afraid, but they still protect their Kyai. The Kyai raises his hands and gives himself up to save the students.

Kyai: O Allah, please forgive me.

Students: Kyai! Kyai! Kyai!

Scene 5: The Kyai's Suffering

Narrator 1: When people tried to stand for the truth, there were still others who wanted to silence it. Do you know what happened to the Kyai next?

Narrator 2: What happened to him after they took him to their base?

Narrator 1: When he arrived, the Kyai was badly tortured because he had spread a letter against the PKI.

The scene changes to the PKI base.

Anton: Hey, you stupid Kyai! Why did you write this letter? Do you want to fight us? Our goal is right! We want everyone to have the same life!

Kyai: Your goal and your way are wrong. Allah gives every living creature its own blessings in a fair way. But you want to change Allah's decision with your own ideas.

The Kyai is kicked and falls to the ground in a position of prostration. Alcohol is poured over him.

Anton: You really want to be tortured? Fine!

The Kyai is taken into a room for torture. The sound of a door slamming is heard, followed by the Kyai's cries of pain.

Scene 6: The Students' Rescue

The screen shows a map of the students moving toward the PKI base.

Ben: Okay, we have arrived.

Ahmad: We must save our Kyai, no matter what happens, even if we have to risk our lives!

All Students: We agree!

Ibnu: Our Kyai has given everything for us. His money, his energy, and his thoughts. Now, let us repay his kindness!

All Students: We agree!

Ahmad: Come on! Let's fight them!

All Students: Let's go!

The students shout loudly, making the PKI members come out of their base.

Ahmad: Hey! Where is our Kyai?!

Anton: Your Kyai is safe. Maybe he is unconscious after we beat him.

Ahmad: How dare you hurt our Kyai! If anything happens to him, you will regret it!

Anton: What can little kids like you do?

Ahmad: You have really tested our patience! Friends, let's go!

All Students: Aaaaaah!

During the fight, Ahmad bravely passes through the PKI members. He goes to the back and finds the Kyai. He helps him escape. After they get away, the Kyai stops because he is too weak.

Scene 7: The Last Words

Kyai: Ahmad...

Ahmad: Yes, Kyai?

Kyai: Whatever happens, we must always stand for the truth. Never change the truth just to make things look right.

Ahmad: Yes, Kyai.

The Kyai takes a tasbih from his pocket and gives it to Ahmad.

Kyai: This is yours now.

Ahmad: Why are you giving it to me, Kyai? You still need it.

Kyai: It's okay. Take good care of it, and don't forget to use it for dhikr every day.

Ahmad: Yes, Kyai.

Suddenly, the Kyai is shot by a PKI member who is still there.

"BANG!"

Ahmad: Kyai! Kyai, wake up! We have won! Let's go home, Kyai!

Ibnu: Let's go home, Kyai! Everyone is waiting for you at the school! Kyai! Kyai!

Ahmad: Indeed, we belong to Allah, and to Him we shall return.

All Students: KYAI!

Ahmad walks to the front, raises the tasbih given by the Kyai, and reads the letter of struggle.

The students stand in a line behind him and bow their heads.

Ahmad: Our Kyai was more than just a teacher to us. He was more than a father. He was everything to us. In the past, he taught us how to read. Now, he has taught us how to fight for what is right. He was ready to sacrifice everything for us. He even gave his own life to save us.

The hymn "Api Perjuangan" begins.

Scene 8: The Ending

Narrator 1: His weak body and old age could not stop him from fighting.

Narrator 2: In the middle of many problems, he was ready to sacrifice his wealth, energy, time, thoughts, and even his life.

Narrator 1: I don't know how I can repay your kindness.

Narrator 2: But believe me, I will always put your name in my prayers.

Narrator 1 & 2: Long live our Kyai! Long live our boarding school!

"This part teaches us that we must speak the truth, not change the truth to fit what we want."

(Looking up, confused)

Uhh... I'd like a chicken noodle but... Right now? Don't we... have work at the office?

Faris

Umm... nope! Work is light today, we can handle it later.

Dion

(Chuckling softly to lighten the mood)

Yeah, no pressure at all. Don't worry about it. So, Chicken noodles, is it?

Dion: "What?! Your LITTLE BROTHER?! My goodness I'm sorry to hear that, Raka..."

Faris: "Oh no, that's terrible... Alright, we're heading straight to your house now!"

Raka

(Smirking faintly)

They're coming back.

(BLACKOUT)

NARRATOR

Well, this is not going to be good...

SCENE 6: HE IS NOT DEAD

(SETTING: Raka's house. Dion, Faris, and Ilham sit around Raka, who pretends to bow his head in grief.)

Ilham

Raka... I'm so sorry for your loss, man...

Dion

Stay strong. Please don't be sad... we're here for you.

Faris

You're not alone, Raka.

(Raka looks up briefly, pretending to be touched, then lowers his head again, facing the audience [Breaking the 4th wall])

Raka

This is the best, nothing bad will happen-

(The front door suddenly opens, Raka's Little brother entered.)

Little Brother

(Enters holding her school bag, casual)

Raka, I'm home...

(Instantly, THE ENTIRE ROOM FREEZES. Dion, Faris, and Ilham stare in complete shock.)

Raka

(Jumping up, his face turning pale as a sheet)

Uh...

Little Brother

(Stopping in her tracks, looking confused at everyone)

Raka, I just got back from tutoring...

(Beat)

...Why is everyone gathered here? What's going on?

(The atmosphere becomes dead silent and tense.)

Ilham

(Stammering)

You...

Dion

(Standing up, exploding with anger)

You told us your brother DIED, Raka!!

Little Brother

(Shocked)

Wait... what?!

Raka

(Panicking, holding his hands out)

Wait!! I can explain everything!!

Dion

Explain what?! You LIED to us?!

(Raka lowers his head, unable to deny it.)

Raka

I just wanted you guys to come! I wanted you to care about me!!

Dion

By tricking us into thinking your brother LITERALLY DIED?! That's so messed up, Raka!

(Raka stays silent.)

Faris

(Shaking his head)

You went way too far, Raka. This is sick. YOURE sick.

Dion

(Stepping closer to Raka, looking at him with deep disappointment)

I am so disappointed in you, Raka.

Raka

Dion...

(Dion walks out without looking back. Ilham follows right behind him.)

Ilham

Stop talking to me...

(Faris stares at Raka for a moment.)

Faris

Raka... I don't even know what to believe from you anymore.

(Faris walks away, leaving the room. Only Raka and his Little Brother remain in silence.)

Little Brother

Uh... What just happened...?

Raka

Its... Nothing...

Little Brother

Okay...? Uh, yeah whatever, I'm gonna just head to my room...

(Little Brother turns around and walks into his room. Raka stands alone in the center of the stage. Lights dim down to a single spotlight.)

Raka

I.. I just wanted them to show up.

(Beat)

But instead... I ended up driving away the people who love me.

(Realizing)

What I did is a wrong thing to do... I need to apologize to them!

(BLACKOUT)

(VISUAL LED SCREEN: "STAY")

SCENE 7: STAY

(SETTING: Office space. Dion, Faris, and Ilham sit silently with tense expressions. The office door suddenly bursts open.)

(Raka rushes in, out of breath. Everyone turns to look at him.)

Raka

I... I realized what I did is wrong...

(Stepping toward Dion)

I'm sorry. I am truly, deeply sorry.

(Silence fills the room.)

Dion

(Slowly standing up)

Do you know what makes me mad the most, Raka?

(Raka lowers his head in defeat)

It's not just that you lied... It's because you thought so little of us. You thought we'd only care if bad things happened to you! You're using our pity for your own selfishness!

Raka

(Holding back tears)

I didn't know how to tell you that I was feeling lonely...

Ilham

You should have just said so, Raka! We're your friends!

(Faris steps forward, grabs an office chair, and places it right next to his desk.)

Faris

Honestly, I can't just forgive you right away.

(Raka bows his head further)

But I also can't leave you stranded like this.

Seriously, what you did was way out of line, Raka!

But if you're truly sincere about changing and making amends... sit here. Let's start over from scratch.

(No dramatic hugs. Just quiet, genuine togetherness.)

Faris

Just... don't do that again, alright? I just can't handle another funeral this month!

Dion

Yeah, me too!

Ilham

Hey you guys wanna watch that new Marvel movie together? I heard it have a cool-

(Ilham's voice fades slowly while he keeps talking with his friends)

Raka

(Looking at the audience with a warm smile)

Sometimes we feel lonely... not because there is no one around us. But because we are too afraid to be honest and say... "I need you."

Raka

And if today there is no one coming to keep you company...

...at least... never abandon the people who have always been by your side.

(LIGHTS FADE OUT TOTAL)

THE END

“Sometimes we feel lonely... not because there is no one around us. But because we are too afraid to be honest and say... ”I need you.””

A Day Without Rules

Scene 1

(The Narrator enters, speaking while walking towards center stage. In the background, props show the Gontor main kitchen, bathrooms, classrooms, and the grand mosque.)

Narrator: Once upon a time, in a famous modern Islamic boarding school in Indonesia—known for its strict lifestyle and many rules. People often call it a "holy prison," but it has successfully produced many great leaders around the world...

(Four close friends enter and sit on the edge of the stage around a table, looking tired and restless.)

Narrator: This story is about some new students who just arrived at Gontor. They always complain about the heavy rules. One day, they think of a crazy idea: what if the campus has a day without any rules at all?

Fatih: (Groaning, holding his head) Oh man... My head hurts so much! It has only been a month since I came to Gontor, and I feel like my brain is going to break. Back home, life was so nice. I was free to sleep anytime, wear any clothes, and speak any language!

Zaki: (Fixing his sarong lazily) Exactly, Fatih! Here, even a small mistake gets you punished. Waking up has a strict routine, taking a bath means waiting in a long line by the mosque, and running to class when the bell rings feels like a marathon. Every second, the security staff, language staff, and managers are watching us!

Umar: (Flipping through a dictionary) Not to mention the language rule! This morning, my tongue slipped and I spoke Indonesian right in front of the Rayon porch. The Language Department caught me right away. My punishment? Writing one hundred vocabulary words, or my head gets shaved bald!

Rifai: (Sighing) And look at our timetable! From morning until night, non-stop! Cleaning duty, praying in congregation on time, clothes must be neat, caps cannot be tilted. What kind of life is this? We are treated like robots!

(They pause. Suddenly, Fatih stands up with a bright smile.)

Fatih: (Standing up, looking excited) Just imagine... what if this campus has a "Day Without Rules"? No language police, no bells, no punishments, total freedom! We will finally feel peace and get rid of this heavy stress!

(All the new students nod, dreaming about a life without rules.)

Zaki: (Laughing) Wow, what a great idea! If the boarding school has zero rules, it will be so much fun! We can sleep all day, play games, and never worry about discipline again!

Scene 2

Narrator: They sit together, smiling and dreaming about an unregulated campus until they fall asleep.

Narrator: Seeing the new students always complaining and breaking the rules, the Student Affairs staff tells the Broadcasting Department to make a special announcement: today is officially "Boarding School Without Rules Day."

Zaki: Hey guys, listen up! There is an announcement on the speaker. Wake up, wake up! This is big news!

CID: (Sounding a chime) Ding, ding, ding... Attention, everyone! Today is officially Boarding School Without Rules Day! You are free to do whatever you want, with zero restrictions!

Narrator: The students jump in joy and start acting on their wild impulses because there are no rules to stop them anymore.

(Total chaos starts on stage.)

Umar: Hey guys, am I dreaming? Slap my face right now to check if I am awake. Did you guys hear that announcement too?

The Four Friends: Yes, we heard it clearly!

Fatih: (Shouting happily) Hahaha! Awesome! Look around us, guys! Isn't this great? No rules, no sadness, no stress, no angry prefects watching us! We are finally free!

Zaki: How fun it is to be a santri like this! Eating while standing gets zero punishment! Not speaking formal languages is totally fine; let's just use slang! Hahaha, I am so happy!

(The stage turns into total madness.)

Narrator: Total disorder happens the moment one person's "freedom" hurts someone else.

(A junior student runs fast across the stage, bumping hard into Zaki and dropping all his food.)

Troublemaker: (Angry) Hey! Watch where you are going! This is a public road! Because of you, my food is all over the floor!

Zaki: (Annoyed) Calm down! Just because there are no rules doesn't mean you can crash into people! Look where you are running, you maniac!

Troublemaker: (Pushing Zaki) Oh, I will do whatever I want! Who do you think you are?! At least say sorry after knocking down my food instead of acting like you did nothing wrong! Ugh!

Rifai: Stop, stop, stop fighting! Instead of arguing here, let's just go to the bathroom and get ready for class!

The Four Friends: Let's go!

Scene 3

(Scene moves to the bathroom area. Umar tries to enter a restroom while the others hold their washing gear.)

Umar: (Surprised, grabbing the shoulder of a student who cuts in line) Wait a second! Why are you cutting the line like that? Form a proper line! I have been waiting here for a long time. I should enter this bathroom first, then you!

Troublemaker (Extra 2): So what if I cut in? Remember, today is rule-free day! So, no need for any line nonsense. Survival of the fittest—whoever moves the fastest gets to wash first! Total freedom, bro!

Umar: Oh, is that how it works? If everyone is selfish like you and refuses to wait in line, think about the people who have been waiting patiently here!

Rifai: (Walking in with Fatih and Zaki) Hey guys, look at our bathrooms. Because the queuing rule is gone, people are fighting over water and cutting each other in line without caring about others!

Fatih: True... Even though nobody is throwing punches yet, this selfish attitude quickly makes everyone annoyed and uncomfortable.

Umar: Look at them, shouting loudly and banging on doors using rough language.

Zaki: Enough, let's not get angry. It's better for us to just walk away and not join this mess. Come on, let's go to the classroom!

The Four Friends: Let's go!

Scene 4

Fatih: (Holding his bag and putting his books on a messy desk) Oh my goodness, this is terrible! Is this a classroom or a garbage dump? Desks and chairs are everywhere, and trash is all over the floor. How can we study in a place like this?

Rifai: Look over there! Because there are no rules, some students brought rice right into the classroom and spilled it all over the floor!

Umar: Some lazy guys even dragged their sleeping mattresses right into the study hall and are snoring loudly! When are we supposed to study if classrooms become dormitories?

Zaki: Also, our friends look so messy and sloppy. They don't look like serious students at all!

Fatih: Why does our school look like a disaster zone now? It is really scary to see. Where are the teachers?

Rifai: Exactly, Fatih! This is what happens when a campus has no rules and no teachers come inside to teach. Our classrooms are totally abandoned!

Scene 5

Fatih: (Holding his books and bag, walking into the mosque area with his friends) Alhamdulillah, Dhuhr prayer time is here. Come on, let's pray so our minds can feel calm after seeing that messy classroom.

Zaki: (Stopping and pointing forward) Wait, hold on... Look at the prayer rows (shaf) inside the mosque. They are so messy! Some people are standing too far forward, others are too far back, totally crooked!

Umar: (Looking at the other rows) This is bad! Not only are the rows crooked, but up front, many students are just sitting around, talking loudly right after the adhan finished. This is the House of Allah, a holy place for worship!

Rifai: Look at that! Sandals and shoes are thrown everywhere, blocking the path. Also, where are the mosque caretakers? Normally, people get warned right away if they make noise... but today, nobody cares at all!

Narrator: Chaos is everywhere on campus—from the bathrooms and classrooms to the holy mosque. Finally, they realize that the real reason for this mess is the absence of discipline and rules.

Fatih: (Putting a hand on his chest, looking very tired and sad) Guys... We were so wrong. We thought a day without rules would bring freedom and happiness. But look at this reality: bathrooms require fights just to enter, classrooms are ruined, and the mosque is now like a playground with zero manners.

Zaki: True, Fatih... I really regret wanting this. Our school has lost its good name.

Rifai: Oh no... How did things get this bad? This is not freedom; this is total chaos!

Fatih: You are right, Rifai. I was wrong. Classrooms are broken and holy places are messy because nobody cares about cleanliness, and people fight because there are no consequences. Without rules, the strong win, and the weak get hurt!

Umar: Oh no, what should we do now?! If this continues, we will just hate living in this boarding school.

Scene 6

(CAMEO: A strict and respected Student Affairs Staff member walks slowly onto the stage. The whole stage goes completely quiet. All the students who were fighting just a moment ago freeze in fear and look down.)

(The Ustadz walks slowly through the classroom and dormitory areas, looking at the mess with sharp eyes and shaking his head. He stands in the center of the stage, crosses his arms, and gives the students a stern look.)

Ustadz (Student Affairs Staff): All of you wanted total freedom with zero rules? Look at what you made in just one day! Without rules, humans are not free... people just act like wild animals. Discipline in this school is a must!

Fatih: We are sorry, Ustadz! We made a big mistake... We thought rules were like a prison, but we didn't realize that those rules are actually our shield and our pride!

Zaki: We want school discipline back! We need guidance and good manners again. Please bring our rules back, Ustadz!

Scene 7

Narrator: That day taught the new students of Gontor a very important lesson: discipline and rules are not chains that trap our creativity, but rails that guide our train of life toward success and honor.

Fatih: Remember this, friends! In Gontor, discipline is the breath of our life. Discipline is not here to limit us, but to raise our status!

All Actors: (Together, with loud voices and high spirits) Discipline Triumphant! Gontor Advancing! Ready for rules, ready for success!

Restaurant owner:are you sure, you are kidding me now
Ihsan:i'm seriously,i'm not kidding now

Ahsan: Ihsan, why are you here? You told me didn't have any money, didn't you?
Ihsan: i, I also want to live like you – eating well, being smart, and loved by many people – so i...
Ahsan : Then why did you lie? Why didn't you say anything/(in a gentle tone)
Ihsan: Oh, come on you hypocrite... You really don't like me, do you?
Ahsan: It's noy like that, Ihsan. You're my friend, so...Alright i'll forgive you. Come on let's eat together.
Ihsan: That's more i like it. What's so hard about letting it go?

Ihsan: Help me, Ahsan ! I'm being chased...

Ahsan: What's going on, i don't get iy. Explain to me.

Ihsan: Why has my life become so bleak?
(Music begins, a shadow appears to remind Ihsan to stay calm about Ahsan)
(Music and silent drama)
(Three days later, Ihsan deeply regret his actions and misses his friend.)
Ihsan: Ahsan...why don't you wake up? I missyou. Forgive for taking advantage of you...
Uncle;why are you criyng? What's done is done – there's nothing you can do now. It's true, humans do feel sense of loss when something they had once is gone.
Nephew: but ihsan you can close your eyes for few seconds,that when you open it you will what makes you better...

Ihsan: i'am going to do that, at least if Ahsan was here in front of me, I could ask him for forgiveness...
Ahsan: What are you saying, Ihsan..?
(Ahsan suddenly appears beside Ihsan)
Ahsan: Now you understand, right ? What you did was wrong...From now on try to apprecite your friend while he is still here, and doing good comes from within yourself

The Last Letter

SCENE 1 — THE PEACEKEEPERS

NARRATOR: Far beyond these walls lies a land older than every flag that has ever flown over it. Palestine. A name spoken in prayers, sung in lullabies, carried in the silence of mothers waiting behind broken doors. Into this land came men who were not born there, who did not choose this war, but chose to stand inside it anyway. They called themselves peacekeepers. They did not come to win a war. They came to stop one, to carry bread where there was hunger, to open a road where there was fear, to guard a life that was never theirs to guard. But that night, they would learn a hard truth: keeping the peace does not always mean you can stop the war.

(A distant explosion is heard.)
SAM: That was close.
RAY: Too close.
CAPTAIN: Check your gear. We move out at first light.
MICHAEL: Again?
CAPTAIN: Again. That is the job.
(Captain exits toward the guard post zone.)

SCENE 2 — THE BLANK LETTER
DANIEL: You have been staring at that paper for ten minutes.
ADAM: I am writing.
DANIEL: No. You are fighting the paper.
(The others laugh softly.)
ADAM: It is for my mother.
SAM: Start with, "Dear Mother, I am perfectly safe."
ADAM: That is a lie.
MICHAEL: Then tell her you are brave.
ADAM: Another lie.
RAY: Then tell her you miss home.
(Adam pauses.)
ADAM: That one is true.
(He begins to write.)

ADAM: Dear Mom...

SCENE 3 — WORDS FOR HOME
(The team gathers around Adam at the writing area.)
SAM: Tell her about the food here.
ADAM: The food?
SAM: Yes. Tell her you finally understand why you missed her cooking.
(They laugh.)
MICHAEL: Tell her about home.
ADAM: She already knows home.
MICHAEL: Then tell her what you miss about it.
ADAM: My little brother. He is ten years old.
RAY: Still annoying?
ADAM: More than ever.
(They smile.)
JONAH: Tell him you will be home before his birthday.
ADAM: Before his birthday.
(He writes. The mood slowly turns quiet.)
NOAH: My mother always says, "Come home safe."
MICHAEL: Mine always says, "Do not make me wait."
(Silence.)
DANIEL: Adam. What do you really want her to know?
ADAM: That I was afraid.
(Silence.)
ADAM: But I never stopped moving forward.

DANIEL: Write that.

SCENE 4 — THE LAST SENTENCE
(A command is heard from offstage.)
CAPTAIN: Five minutes! Prepare to move!
(Everyone gathers their gear.)
ADAM: I do not know how to finish this letter.
DANIEL: Tell her you were not alone.
ADAM: What?
DANIEL: Tell her... you were not alone.
SAM: You had us.
MICHAEL: You had brothers beside you.
RAY: You had people waiting for you.
JONAH: And people waiting to be rescued.
(Adam writes slowly.)
ADAM: I was not alone.
(He folds the letter and places it inside his vest.)
CAPTAIN: Before we move. Bismillah.
ALL: Bismillah.
(A held breath. Then they lift their bags together.)

SCENE 5 — THE MISSION
CAPTAIN: Move! Stay together!
(They walk together toward the exit zone, stage right.)

ADAM: Daniel.
(Adam hands him the letter.)
ADAM: If I do not come back, send this to my mother.
DANIEL: You can send it yourself.
ADAM: Promise me.
DANIEL: I promise.
(They move on.)

SCENE 6 — THE CHOICE
(They move quickly through the narrow passage, stage right. An explosion is heard.)
CAPTAIN: Down!
(Everyone drops down together.)
MICHAEL: Someone is trapped there!
(A weak voice cries out from beyond the sandbags.)
YUSUF: (from offstage) Ya Allah... help me...
ADAM: I will get him.
CAPTAIN: Adam, wait!
(Adam moves toward the voice and returns, half-carrying Yusuf, an old man covered in dust, coughing.)
ADAM: I have got you. Come on.
(He hands Yusuf toward Daniel.)
ADAM: Take him!
(Another explosion. Everyone flinches.)
DANIEL: Adam!
(Daniel tries to turn back.)

CAPTAIN: Keep moving!
ADAM: Go! He is waiting to live!
DANIEL: I will come back for you!
ADAM: I know.
(Daniel and the others carry Yusuf away. Adam stays behind, alone, facing the smoke.)
YUSUF: (weakly, as he is carried off) Jazakallahu khair... God... remember this boy...
(Adam is left standing alone at center stage, facing outward.)

SCENE 7 — THE LAST LETTER
(Daniel returns with the others, minus Adam. He searches, then kneels and finds only the folded letter left on the ground.)
DANIEL: Adam...
(He opens the letter slowly. As he reads, his voice grows steady, like reciting something sacred.)
DANIEL (reading):
Dear Mom.
If these words reach you before I do,
know that I was already home, in you.

I did not fall.
I chose to stand between the fire
and everything I ever loved.

Tonight I have seen the color hell must be painted in.

CAPTAIN: Keep moving!
ADAM: Go! He is waiting to live!
DANIEL: I will come back for you!
ADAM: I know.
(Daniel and the others carry Yusuf away. Adam stays behind, alone, facing the smoke.)
YUSUF: (weakly, as he is carried off) Jazakallahu khair... God... remember this boy...
(Adam is left standing alone at center stage, facing outward.)

SCENE 7 — THE LAST LETTER
(Daniel returns with the others, minus Adam. He searches, then kneels and finds only the folded letter left on the ground.)
DANIEL: Adam...
(He opens the letter slowly. As he reads, his voice grows steady, like reciting something sacred.)

DANIEL (reading):
Dear Mom.
If these words reach you before I do,
know that I was already home, in you.

I did not fall.
I chose to stand between the fire
and everything I ever loved.

Tonight I have seen the color hell must be painted in.
I have heard silence scream louder than the blast.
But Mom, I was not alone.

I had brothers who caught me when the ground gave way, who carried my fear so I could carry my feet forward.
That is worth more than any medal they will never give me.

I did not come here chasing glory.
Glory is a coward's word
for men who never bled for anyone but themselves.
I came because somewhere in this dust,
a stranger's heartbeat mattered exactly as much as mine.

Even the ones who speak a tongue my mouth cannot hold, who bow toward the same Qibla I have carried since I was a boy, they were mine to protect. They were mine to run toward.

If my little brother asks why I never made it home,
do not soften it for him.
Tell him his brother walked straight into the storm,
so someone else's brother could walk out of it.

Tell him fear never stopped my feet.
It only made every step heavier, and I carried it anyway.
And Mom, when they place this letter in your hands instead of me,
do not let your knees give out beneath you.
Stand the way you raised me to stand.
I was not a hero chasing his name into history.
I was your son, choosing love over fear, one more time,
in a place the world had already stopped watching.
Do not cry because I am gone.
Cry if you must, but then lift your chin, and tell them your son was brave enough to call a stranger his brother.
That is who I was.
That is who I chose to be.
I was not alone.
(Daniel folds the letter against his chest and lowers his head.)

SCENE 8 — THE LAST MESSAGE

NARRATOR: That night, the world may never learn his name. There was no parade. No medal. No victory march. Only a young man who chose to move forward when everyone else had reason to run. Because a hero is not someone who searches for death. A hero is someone who keeps choosing life, even after he knows the cost may be his own.

NARRATOR: They arrived wearing uniforms. They left behind a story. A story of someone who never asked, "Will the world remember me?" He only asked, "Is there someone I can still save?"

NARRATOR: Allah says:

وَمَنْ أَحْيَاهَا فَكَأَنَّمَا أَحْيَا النَّاسَ جَمِيعًا

"Whoever saves one life, it is as if he has saved all of humanity." (QS. Al-Ma'idah: 32)

YUSUF: (stepping forward slowly, holding his chest) He did not know me. He did not know my name. But he ran toward me like I was his own brother. That is the peace this world is starving for.

NARRATOR: Because the worth of a person is never measured by how long he lived, but by the goodness he left behind. Adam did not return with a medal. He did not return with applause. He only left behind a letter, and a message:

DANIEL: "I was not alone."

NARRATOR: And as long as there is still someone willing to hold another person's hand, as long as one heart still chooses to care in the middle of ruin, hope has never truly died.

(All cast turn slowly to face the audience, standing in a single still line, as the narrator speaks the final words.)

NARRATOR: This is not the end of a war. This is the beginning of remembering why peace is worth protecting.

THE END

“Because a hero is not someone who searches for death. A hero is someone who keeps choosing life, even after he knows the cost may be his own.”

الحمد لله رب العالمين
